Note:

1934-1936: The RA group in the ward was the Wealdstone Ratepayers' Association.

1937-1942: The ResA group in the ward was the South Wealdstone and District Residents' Association.

1936: A second Civic Centre Opposition Movement candidate, F.N. Sanderson, was nominated, but his nomination paper was ruled to be invalid owing to the omission of the seconder's name. Mrs. Henderson, a member of Wealdstone Ratepayers' Association, was nominated by the Wealdstone Chamber of Commerce. She subsequently received endorsement from the Civic Centre Opposition Movement.

1937: Adams was adopted by the Wealdstone Ratepayers' Association after he declared his intention to run as a Conservative.

1942: (10/1) Pugh was disqualified under the terms of the Local Government Act 1933. See Appendix G for further details.

South Wealdstone and District Residents' Association organised a petition, signed by 132 people, in support of Broomfield's nomination and presented it to the Council. However, Hodder was co-opted in preference to Broomfield, on a show of hands, by 16 votes to 3. (The Labour Group abstained.)

Evans and Edridge supported Hodder's nomination. They claimed that the South Wealdstone and District Residents' Association had ceased to function, was in a "moribund" condition and did not represent the views of Wealdstone South ward. Both Councillors had been struck off the Association's membership roll a week before the Council meeting.

1949: Clark sought election as a Conservative candidate. He complained that Crawforth's main residence was outside the Urban District.
