At the Poll you are absolutely free and perfectly safe Working men, remember it is your cause I am fighting." Paine was strongly opposed to the canvassing methods of the supporters of Bridgwater.

Short, under the slogan 'Union is Strength', called for workers to be represented on public bodies. In an advert in the Wealdstone, Harrow and Wembley Observer he said: "Doubtless you will have had all the young and old ladies in the place courting you for your vote; but only for that. Then good-bye till next election day, or till they want something else. If Workmen are true to their principles and act together they can win any election." After the election Short said that his supporters should not be disheartened by the result. "Considering the terrible combination against us, i.e. all the wealth of the Harrow Primrose District, and other Ladies, Parsons included, vehicles out [in] number, and working-men who dearly love a rich one, we have not done so badly."

Note: The Harrow Gazette reported that within the Pinner parish 281 people voted out of 402 on the Register, a turnout of 69.9%.

Cardo described himself as "The fearless advocate of the rights of the People".

PINNER electoral division [cont.]

Election	Electors	T'out	Candidate	Votes	%

				70	5.6

Note: The Harrow Observer incorrectly reported that the joint 'county' electors of the Little Stanmore and Edgware parishes was 639 (it was 619), and that the division electorate as a whole was 2,856. Despite this, the paper's report allowed construction of an analysis of the polling, as follows:

Parish Council area	PD Letter	Register Entries	County Electors	Voted	T'out
Pinner	Q	1,696	1,470	570	38.8%
Harrow Weald	V	538	410	220	53.7%
Great Stanmore	G	430	337	213	63.2%
Little Stanmore	F	433	362)	275	44.4%
Edgware	F	310	257)
Totals		3,407	2,836	1,278	45.1%

As there were 1,262 valid votes the analysis implies that there were 16 spoilt ballot papers at this election.

The Hendon and Finchley Times described Robinson as a "well-known Conservative worker in the Harrow Division" — at the time of the election he was Secretary of the Great Stanmore Conservative Association.
